SPECTACULAR PANTOMIME

Legislator Assumed Attitude of an Obstruction Bull and Ostentatiously Winked.

In Opposition to the Passage of the Cowan Bill, While He Raved.

Editor Kelly, of the Hisbee Review, was in Phoenix when the vote was taken in the house on the Cowan bill. What he sent to his paper in reference to it follows:

"The fight in the house this afternoon was bitter at times, but the opponents of the Cowan bill weakened finally and allowed it to pass. The friends of the bill in the house resorted to the most glaring obstruction tactics to defeat the passage of the bill. This morning the ineffectual filibuster preceded the bill on the calendar. Rove with spectacular pantomime and grotesque histrionic efforts made a play to the galleries for hours. Time again he assumed the attitude of an obstruction bull and ostentatiously winked occasionally at the representatives in the press gallery, who accepted his optical blandishments for public favor in sheer amusement."

"The legislators displayed rare forbearance as Rove raved about the attack and 'raid on the school fund.'"

"Loud cheering from the galleries greeted every law maker who attempted to throttle the filibuster. Speaker Powers maintained a dignified and silent contempt for the travesty on legislation while serious assemblymen leaned in their seats and dozed. Spectators were surprised to find Rove St. Charles in line with the obstructionists today. This was by far the most interesting day in the session and brought out the impatience of platform smashes in bold relief. While the galleries derided the buffoonery of dramatic Rove and Jester St. Charles, some of the trusted law makers smiled radiantly, thus exhibiting a brazen obstruction to a measure in defiance of the strongest display of public sentiment yet manifested over an internal measure in Arizona."

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

W. W. Elliott, the mill builder, has just completed the erection of a building on the Mohawk group of mines on Pine creek, for the stamp mill there. Some additional machinery has also been added consisting of a gasoline belt, air compressors and drills.

Some handsome specimens of ore were placed in the Winsor cabinet to day from the Fitzhugh L. mine, near Poland, owned by Charles J. George. The ore, in some respects is the most peculiar that has been seen here for some time. It is of a brown color and has the appearance of rutile ore. It is covered with beautiful crystals, while some free gold is visible to the naked eye, and is said to contain some copper values, but no assay of the ore has been made of it and its actual value is not known. It is pretty, just the same, and the specimens are very rare.

A forty one pound bar of gold bullion was brought in yesterday from the Henrietta mine, owned by the Henrietta Mining Co.

C. S. Gage, one of the well known mining men of Arizona, is visiting Prescott for a few days. Mr. Gage is superintendent of the Planet Copper Mining company, operating extensive properties at Planet, Arizona. He is also postmaster at that place. This camp is about 80 miles from Kingman and 12 miles east of the Colorado river in the Bill Williams Park country, and is where the rich strike was made a few days ago which nearly depopulated the city of Kingman. This strike was made since Mr. Gage left the camp and he is consequently quite interested in it, as he has a number of claims adjoining the claims owned by the Mexicans who made the rich find. He says he had taken out quite a bit of fine ore for some time before he left there, and if they have discovered anything richer than they have been taking out it must be pretty good ore. Mr. Gage will leave for home in a day or two as he is anxious to know more about the matter.

DOUBLE SORROW.

Mrs. St. Clair Receives Telegram of Father's Serious Illness.

About 10 o'clock yesterday morning Mrs. D. E. St. Clair, who only three days before had suffered the loss of her husband, received a telegram from her sister, Miss Lulu Hunter, at Flagstaff, that she had just received a wire that her father was not expected to live more than a few hours and their mother was also very ill.

The terrible news almost prostrated the little lady, who had just been passing through so much sorrow, but she hurriedly packed a few clothes into a trunk and took the 8 o'clock train for the bedside of her parents at Flagstaff. Mrs. St. Clair was joined at Flagstaff by Miss Lulu Hunter and they will make the sad journey together.

ARIZONA BISBEE COMPANY.

Begins Active Operations on Their Copper Properties.

The following from the Tombstone Prospector will be of interest to a good many Prescott people who have become interested in these properties:

"County Treasurer Scribner returned in a few days since from Bisbee, where he went to attend a meeting of the stockholders of the Bisbee-Arizona Copper Mining company, of which he is president. The meeting was called for the purpose of electing officers and a board of directors for the coming year, and the following were elected:

M. D. Scribner, Tombstone, president; C. T. Clark, Bisbee, vice president and general manager; Jacob Schmid, Bisbee, treasurer; Frank H. Bopp, of Bisbee, secretary. The board of directors are: M. D. Scribner, C. T. Clark, Jacob Schmid, Dr. C. L. Caven, Frank H. Bopp, Geo. B. Wilcox and F. W. Howard.

The company owns a group of six claims in what is known as the Iron mountain and immediately adjoining the property of the Modern Copper Mining company. The claims are about seven miles this side of Bisbee in the canyon leading up to the divide and about half a mile from the wagon road leading from this city to Bisbee.

The property is located in an excellent section and numerous good bodies of copper ore have been already opened on the property immediately adjoining the Iron mountain. A force of men have been put to work during the past few days in sinking a shaft on the property and the development of the same will be watched with interest as many of the stockholders are among the residents of Coconino county."

MONDAY CLUB.

Elects Officers and Decides to Divide Into Sections.

The Monday club met yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. J. C. Herndon. It was purely a business and social session, and was attended only by members. Among other business transacted was the election of officers for the next year. The election resulted as follows: President, Mrs. B. D. Billingshurst; first vice president, Mrs. W. W. Rove; second vice president, Mrs. J. C. Herndon; recording secretary, Mrs. L. E. Barclay; corresponding secretary, Mrs. W. M. Chappell; treasurer, Mrs. Geo. C. West.

The question of organizing the club into sections which was discussed at a preceding meeting and postponed until yesterday for final action was taken up and by a vote the club decided on such organizations. The different sections will consist of music, literature and art. They will meet on separate days and members of each section have the privilege of selecting the one most congenial to their abilities and tastes. This however does not interfere with the regular meetings of the club when all the members will attend.

A letter was read from Mrs. F. A. Telle the organizer of the club and who was acting as its president for a number of years.

Messrs. G. C. Ruffner and J. L. Munda, who have been absent from Prescott for several weeks, were present at the meeting and received a cordial welcome from the members.

At the conclusion of the business of the day the club resolved into a social session, which lasted for some time and during which the hostess of the day served refreshments.

FOR THE YOUNG FOLKS.

TOO SHY.

By S. M. Wright.

He timidly asked her father stern.

For his beautiful daughter's hand.

But the father exclaimed, "It's plain

Young man, you're destitute of sand."

"The battle of life is a dangerous

thing

And strong men often fail.

But sinning thus for the chiefest,

Is an evident lack of skill."

Of course, with an anxious throbbing heart.

He met her in the hall.

And there, as he told of blasted hopes.

She calmly heard it all.

She gave him an undecided look

With a wistful loving eye

And then, as the golden moment came.

She softly said, "Too shy."

"He sometimes tells me squarely,

"No!"

He whistles in his eye.

Betrays a hidden tender heart;

You'll find it if you try."

SQUIRTED WATER

On Railroad Employees Who Attempted to Take Possession of the Street.

Baltimore Mayor Convinced at Railroad

Steel and Has Been Impeached.

Parkersburg, W. Va., March 17.—

The Baltimore and Ohio railroad company claiming rights under an ordinance adopted in 1852, brought a force of men into town before day light today, and began to lay track for five blocks over one of the principal streets in the city. The fire department was called out, and poured such a stream of water on the workmen that they had to abandon the work. A clash occurred between Mayor Vandervoort, who is attorney for the railroad company, and the city council.

The result was that the council ordered out the department and independent proceedings have been begun against the mayor.

Washington, March 17.—Shortly after the doors closed in the senate today, Senator Money offered a substitute for the fourth article of the canal treaty which disavows any intention on the part of the United States to increase its territory at the expense of South or Central America. At 3 o'clock a vote was taken and the amendment was defeated by a party vote. Senator Daniel offered an amendment, providing that the treaty

do not take effect until it is approved by congress and proceeded to address the senate upon it.
